The Injury Prevention Center at Arkansas Children's Hospital (ACH) and the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences (UAMS) has been named the state lead center in part of a national network of health care institutions in what is being hailed as one of the largest collaborative efforts in the history of medicine. The Injury Prevention Center, which is a collaborative effort of the UAMS Department of Pediatrics and Arkansas Children's Hospital, was selected as the state lead center for Arkansas, which the Sarah Jane Brain Project's National Advisory Board will announce along with the other 51 State Lead Centers in Washington, D.C. on June 5.

As the state lead center, the Injury Prevention Center at ACH and UAMS will be responsible for developing the master plan of care for children and young adults with brain injuries throughout the entire state of Arkansas.

The Injury Prevention Center at Arkansas Children's Hospital is the only multi-faceted injury prevention program in Arkansas whose mission is to reduce child injury, death, and disability in Arkansas through service, education, innovative research, and advocacy. Key areas of focus include teen driving, all-terrain vehicle safety, car passenger seat safety, water safety, home safety, pedestrian safety, and bike safety. The center's team of experts works with partners throughout the state to educate families on effective prevention strategies, reinforcing the fact that It Only Takes a Moment - it only takes only a moment to lose your life due to an injury, but it also only takes a moment to practice safety and prevention. For more information on the Injury Prevention Center at Arkansas Children's Hospital, call (501) 364-3400 or go to http://www.archildrens.org/injury_prevention.

Arkansas Children's Hospital is the only pediatric medical center in Arkansas and one of the largest in the United States serving children from birth to age 21. The campus spans 28 city blocks and houses 316 beds, a staff of approximately 500 physicians, 80 residents in pediatrics and pediatric specialties and more than 4,000 employees. The private, nonprofit healthcare facility boasts an internationally renowned reputation for medical breakthroughs and intensive treatments, unique surgical procedures and forward-thinking medical research - all dedicated to fulfilling our mission of enhancing, sustaining and restoring children's health and development. ACH recently ranked No. 76 on FORTUNE 100 Best Companies to Work For®. For more information, visit www.archildrens.org.

Dr. James Graham

As Chief of Emergency Medicine at Arkansas Children's Hospital, Dr. Graham has seen the impact of injury and trauma on families. Arkansas has some of the highest rates of death and disability for children from injury in the United States. It is his hope these concerts help raise public awareness for the need of the Injury Prevention Program.

David Higgs, Organist

About our Artist

One of America's leading concert organists, David Higgs is also Chair of the Organ Department at the Eastman School of Music. He performs extensively throughout the United States and abroad, and has inaugurated many important new instruments including St. Stephan's Cathedral, Vienna; the Meyerson Symphony Center, Dallas; St. Albans Cathedral, England; St. Canice's Cathedral, Kilkenny, Ireland; and the Church of St. Ignatius Loyola in New York City. His performances with numerous ensembles have included the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center, the Orpheus Ensemble, Chanticleer, and the Empire Brass. Since his 1987 debut with the San Francisco Symphony, he has played many Christmas concerts to capacity audiences at San Francisco's Davies Symphony Hall, and in recent years, he has continued this tradition at the Walt Disney Concert Hall in Los Angeles. Mr. Higgs performs, teaches, and adjudicates at festivals and competitions throughout the world, including the International Organ Festivals of Calgary, Alberta; Dublin, Ireland; Odense, Denmark; Redlands and San Anselmo, California; and the Gilmore International Keyboard Festival. In England he has appeared several times at the Oundle International Festival and Organ Academy, the St. Albans International Festival and Competition, and the Cambridge Summer Festival. His performances for colleagues include national, regional and pedagogy conventions of the American Guild of Organists, as well as national conventions of the American Pipe Organ Builders Association, the American Institute of Organbuilders, the Westfield Center, and the Organ Historical Society; and in London, the Annual Congress of the Incorporated Association of Organists, and the International Congress of Organists.

A native of New York City, Mr. Higgs held his first position as a church organist at age ten; as a teenager, he performed classical music as well as rock, gospel, and soul music. He earned the Bachelor and Master of Music degrees at the Manhattan School of Music, and the Performer's Certificate from the Eastman School of Music. His teachers have included Claire Coci, Peter Hurford, Russell Saunders, and Frederick Swann. In New York City, he was Director of Music and Organist at Park Avenue Christian Church, and later Associate Organist of the Riverside Church, where he also conducted the Riverside Choral Society. After moving to San Francisco in 1986, he became Director of Music and Organist at St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Berkeley, Director of Church Music Studies at the Church Divinity School of the Pacific in Berkeley, and Organist/Choir Director at Temple Emanu-El in San Francisco.

MISCELLANEOUS PIPING

From Our Dean:

As November sails along we are fast approaching the "busy" season of Advent and Christmas. For those involved in the administration of programs in churches and educational institutions we are often faced with these tasks far earlier; planning, rehearsing, scheduling, etc. For some of us the practice of music for the season of Advent and Christmas is already ongoing.

We also balance the idea of doing something "new" and "fresh" with maintaining the traditional music which helps define the seasons of Advent and Christmas. Organ repertoire and Choral repertoire are filled with historic treasures of music for these two seasons, yet we feel compelled often to try something new.

So it is with our November meeting, that something great from the "standard" of our professional ranks is brought to us as a special event, meant to enliven and excite us. Our change of concert artist was necessitated by an injury to one of the two duo-performers. Not to be a worry as the replacement player is none other than David Higgs! Note only is his playing as a classical organist top notch, he also is a jazz musician. Perhaps this vitality to his music is drawn from this experience musically.

His music making on this evening will be once again, be combined as a fund raising event for the Arkansas Children's Hospital Pediatric Injury Prevention Unit. Dr. James Graham is assisting us in this evening's presentation as we celebrate great organ music for a great cause. This will be our third such evening to raise awareness of the preventability of Child injury through educational and other means.

So please join us at First Presbyterian Church for the spectacular artistry of David Higgs, and bring friends, make a donation to the worthwhile cause... and think ahead to Christmas! We will not be having a December concert thus David Higgs will be our final concert for the year.

See you all then.
Phil Bordeleau
